ROCK COUNTY SECOND IN THRIFT STAMP SALE

Rock county ranked second to Milwaukee county in the sale of thrift stamps last year, according to a report which Postmaster Cunningham received today. This splendid showing was made in large measure by the children of the city and rural schools.

The work has been taken up again this year in the schools. Every Friday the stamps are sold to the children. Postmaster Cunningham today sent out letters to the teachers, urging their pupils to buy stamps, that this county may again make a good showing. Thrift stamps are sold at the school houses every Friday morning to deliver the stamps.

To Keep Bark on Logs For Rustic Structures

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.) Madison.—Tracking on the bark with large-headed nails and surface and pointing the nails to resemble the color of the bark is one recommendation lately made by the Forest Products laboratory at Madison for preventing bark from flaking off logs used in rustic structure. The nailing method has been successful especially in rustic log cabins and rustic buildings erected for exposition purposes.

During influenza epidemics, spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever constipated or have sick headaches? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 30c at druggists. Guaranteed.

How About Nuts? By Adeline Belle Beard

Get your baskets or bags and let us go on the trail for nuts, now is the time. Bring your bell-axe or a hatchet to cut a stout stick for beating the trees.

The air is clear and frosty, there is something in the air, and there is a thrill, too. A good sized thrill always goes with the first nutting of the season. With baskets and bags full to the brim, we will go home again in triumph, but not before we have sampled our loads of toothsome wild meats and tested their goodness. Is it fun? It is.

But stop a minute. Here is a new thought. There is something more than fun connected with nuts. To know the good things that grow wild is an important part of Woodcraft.

Madison.—Tracking on the bark with large-headed nails and surface and pointing the nails to resemble the color of the bark is one recommendation lately made by the Forest Products laboratory at Madison for preventing bark from flaking off logs used in rustic structure. craft, as you would soon discover if you were lost in the wild country with nothing to eat but what you could find growing there.

Nuts are the most nourishing of all wild foods. You could live a long while on nuts. They take the place of meat, fat, and satisfy your appetite while strengthening your body, but some of them are rather rich food. Our richest American nut is the hickory. Do you know it, have you ever tasted it?

The butternut grows plentifully in Ohio and further south. It has a wild, nutty flavor, which appeals to every one and it is quite oily. Its shell is rough like the walnut, but longer, not round, and the outer coat is green and sticky. When you pound it the juice stains your hands brown.

The small, three sided beechnut has a most delicate flavor. It takes a good many of these to satisfy a hearty appetite. Between the Butternut and Beech-nut, the largest and smallest of our native wild nuts are the Walnut, Hickory-nut, Chestnut, Hazel-nut, and Chinquapin. The Chinquapin grows only in the south.

EARLY JANESVILLE RESIDENT DIES IN EAST

Mrs. Eliza Haselton, aged 96 years, formerly a resident of Janesville, died at the home of her son, P. C. Haselton, Hartford, Conn. yesterday. The body will be brought here Friday and buried in the family lot.

Born August 16, 1823, at Bradford, Vt. Mrs. Haselton came to Janesville with her husband, J. M. Haselton, shortly after her marriage, when she was about 20 years of age. She was one of the early settlers of the city. Her husband for many years was city treasurer. He died in the early '90s.

The deceased is survived by her son, formerly a resident here, but now president of the Phoenix Insurance company, with offices at Hartford, Conn. He will accompany the body here and make final arrangements for the funeral services, which will be announced later.

Mrs. Haselton had two other sons, Charles and Elmer S., both now dead. There are no living relatives now in Janesville.

Sheboygan.—The freight steamer J. S. Krause, of Capt. Charles Henderson, South Manitou Island, burned to the water's edge and sank in 10 feet of water at Glen Haven, Mich., last night.

The ship was frequently at Sheboygan, at which port she took on cargoes of wood and lumber. The crew of eight men escaped without injury.

U. S. RECEIVING SHIP The U. S. receiving ship in Brookline is not really a ship. Its activities have outgrown the largest ship and it is now a small city of 99 buildings on a mile-long strip of shore along the water front.

The habit of speech is so strong in our navy that it is still called a ship, and the floors of its various office buildings are only spoken of as decks. Last winter there were as many as 13,000 men here at one time.

The receiving ship is neat but far from gay. The usual joyous plain olive drab buildings. "No trees and but little grass relieve the monotony of the scene. But around the shore are the green lawns, the bursts into complicated and original decorations. Elaborate mosaics of eagles, flags, and various nautical emblems adorn the grounds. The are made entirely of broken crockery, bottles, etc., and are a source of great pride to the sailors, so much so that one suspects them of being particularly careless of dishes of a color needed to complete a design.

Many little human dramas are enacted in the clearing house of the navy. Recently when one of the men was confined to the hospital there his hair turned white with marvelous rapidity. It was discovered that he was a father of 40 who had been so anxious to serve his country that he had dyed his hair and lied about his age, going all through the war with beautiful raven locks.

INTERCLASS CAGE SCHEDULE AT H. S.

Interclass basketball at the high school will get under full swing when the seniors meet the sophomores on the floor of the school gym on December 3 after the close of school for that day. This announcement was made this morning. The freshmen will play the juniors the same day.

The winners of these two games will meet on Thursday, December 4 to play for the championship of the school. On Friday, December 5, the champs will take on the faculty.

Class teams were organized Monday and Tuesday after school hours. Practice commences tonight and will continue throughout the week and every night of next week. The first team of the school will commence practicing December 4 to get ready for their first game, which will probably come off before Christmas.

Many surrounding cage teams are trying to book games with J. H. S., because of the light for the senior class made last year. The team this year has several changes due to graduation of some of last year's men.

The Boys' Glee club will meet this evening at the high school.

The freshmen-sophomore collateral reading list has been given. The number of books required for each student to read has not yet been decided upon. Senior boys are making up a list for the director class. Probably a junior list will also be prepared, according to Prin. George Bassford.

S. C. Burnham has recovered sufficiently that he is able to work on some of the school records at his home.

Principal Bassford will interpret the Massachusetts elections in the assembly tomorrow morning. He will explain the hearing of elections will have on national policy.

There was a fire drill eighth period yesterday. The students got out of the building in less than 3 minutes.

Each circle will take charge of some special article of food for the supper. They will also have a booth at which fancy articles, candy and home baking goods will be sold. Arrangements were made for a reception for new members to be held in the church Dec. 8. Mrs. Elmer Townsend will be head of the committee to plan for the event.

New supplies for the kitchen have been purchased by a purchasing committee headed by Mrs. S. Kearney. They include a new gas range, dishes, table linen. Of the latter Mrs. J. Ketchum and Mrs. J. D. Owen are assigned to the duty of seeing that it is properly marked.

After the meeting a bountiful lunch was served by the members of Circle No. 1, of which Mrs. Elmer Townsend is chairman.

Help Scarce, Farmers Can't Harvest Potatoes

Binghamton, N. Y.—Thousands of bushels of potatoes in this vicinity will be frozen in the ground this fall because of the farmers' inability to secure hands to dig them. According to reports from Broome county potato growers.

In some localities in the county "a dig and board" is being offered to farmhands, but with no response. Growers have been forced to turn to mechanized diggers.

Shiners here are now paying $1.15 and $1.25 per bushel for potatoes.

PRAYER DISCUSSED BY FEDERATED MISSIONS

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Janesville Federation of Missions held yesterday at the Congregational church. A good program was given at both the afternoon and evening sessions.

The president of the organization, Mrs. C. E. Ewing, is absent from the city and the vice-president, Mrs. George Jacobs, is ill, so that the secretary, Miss Louise Hansen, presided at the afternoon meeting, and the treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Allen, at the evening meeting.

The afternoon program was made up chiefly of a discussion of a book, "The Meaning of Prayer," by Harry Emerson Fosdick, in which various chapters were taken by different individuals. Mrs. H. H. Faust had for her topic, "The Naturalness of Prayer," Mrs. Isadore Burgoyne spoke of prayer as "Communion with God," "To Think, to Work, and to Pray," was the plan suggested by Mrs. J. A. Melrose, in her talk along the line of "Prayer and the Goodness of God."

"Self discipline is sometimes necessary in God's plan," was the thought given in the presentation of Miss Caroline Palmer on "Hindrances and Difficulties." Mrs. Harry Clifton spoke of "Unanswered Prayers," in which she said petitions were often denied because in the larger purpose such things were not best.

Mrs. A. P. Allen spoke of "Prayer as a Dominant Desire," Mrs. F. F. Lewis on "Usefulness in Prayer," and Mrs. L. G. Catchpole on "Prayer as a Battlefield." Several prayers were read by Mrs. O. W. Athon, Mrs. H. M. Fells, Miss Louise Skinner and others. Mrs. W. Allen sang "Did You Think to Pray?"

After the program a social hour was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Faust and Mrs. L. G. Catchpole.

Supper was served in the parlors of the church to about 60 people by a committee headed by Mrs. Arthur Jones and Mrs. Herbert Adams. It was served cafeteria style. The women were assisted in serving by the Misses, Ethel McArthur, Dorothy Granger, Edith Jones, Mrs. Marion McDonald, Mrs. O. W. Athon and Mrs. H. M. Fells.

In the evening an address was made by Miss Ade L. Foster, regional secretary of missions, for the northern district. She took as her topic, "In the Name of Jesus, of Nazareth." Edward C. Ward sang a vocal solo. Miss Frances Spencer played several piano selections.

EX-ARMY OFFICERS DISCUSS N. G. CO.

A national guard company to replace the emergency state guard company at as early a date as possible should be organized in Janesville, was the consensus of opinion of 10 ex-army officers who gathered at the home of Mrs. C. E. Ewing, president of the formation of an officers' council. No action looking toward this step was taken, however, because the men did not deem it advisable to act until every ex-officer be given a chance to voice his sentiments. Another meeting was called for 7:30 Monday evening, Nov. 24, at the Gazette, when it is hoped that every man who saw service in the World war as an officer of the army, national guard, or state guard, and is now residing here, be present.

During the discussion last night it was brought out that it is not to be expected that a national guard company will be recruited entirely from old company "M," though those men will be given every advantage in joining. It is hoped that every man now living here who was an enlisted soldier in the war will join the guard company when recruits are called.

It was pointed out that the military he served.

WHITEWATER WOMEN STUDY CHILD WELFARE

By Gazette Correspondent. Whitewater, Nov. 19.—About 84 women, interested in child welfare, met at the East Side school yesterday afternoon for the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association. After the usual business a program of unusual interest was given. It consisted of singing by the third and fourth grades, solos by Pauline Peck, second grade, and Miss Irene Conaty, Mrs. A. E. Hanson gave a report of the State Federation convention, recently held at Beloit, especially emphasizing the necessity of recreation and proper nutrition. Mrs. Clarence Traut spoke on the subject of training for thrift in the home. She advocated giving children an allowance and making saving spending, as well as earning a part of the early training. Paying cash, instead of running charge accounts, was one good way. Mrs. Traut claimed to teach the value of the dollar. Miss Edna Alumn told some of the ways in which a teacher could teach thrift in the schools. One of the hopeful signs, she said, that thrift was becoming something to be proud of was the fact that boy in the eighth grade, had boasted that his mother had made his trousers from his father's old overalls. A few years ago such thrift would have been carefully concealed, she remarked.

The Mission study class, conducted by the Adult Bible class of the Congregational Sunday school, held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon with Miss Eva Cutler. At present they are studying "Christian Americanization: A Task for the Churches."

The following Whitewater people attended the Gallie Cured concert at Milwaukee Monday evening: Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Humphrey and the Misses Lucy Baker, Elyda, Main, Alice Marsh, Norma Kading, Rella Moss and Libbie Damuth.

Women in War Jobs Have Hard Time Holding Them

London—Women who went out and got war-time jobs to supplement their dwindling incomes are finding it hard to keep a job hold on their positions. Men are pushing women out wherever they can, especially in offices. Complaints are heard from women clerks on all sides. A guild that watches the interests of male bank clerks has decided that services of women should be dispensed with entirely in all London banks, and the matter will soon be brought before the bank directors. Women workers, who say they don't earn their living from choice, but because they must, are incensed.

WALWORTH CO. FARM NOTES

Walworth county beekeepers can get sugar for wintering their bees from the United States Sugar company of Milwaukee. Retailers and jobbers have not been able to get a sufficient supply to permit of their selling it for other than human consumption, consequently the dangers of feeding honey bought on the market back to bees is known to most careful beekeepers. It is much better practice to feed sugar.

Have you sent in your card to Pres. Travis or Secretary Will Sherman, Elkhorn, pleading your attendance at the Walworth County Beekeepers' convention and school to be held the middle of January. Twenty-five guaranteed daily attendance must be pledged before this meeting can be definitely planned by the committee in charge. Surely this feature of education and instruction as well as good fellowship should be to our county and to our beemen. All that is needed is your pledge. Why not mail a card carrying your promise today?

Protein is necessary. To produce meat and milk, you must feed proteins. Some farmers grow their protein crops alfalfa, soy beans, skim milk. Others buy it—bran, all meal, gluten, cottonseed meal, tankage. All livestock needs protein for proper growth and development. Yes, even the children need it—Milk supplies it.

The International Livestock exposition and grain show will be held in the Union stock yards at Chicago, Nov. 29 to Dec. 6. Few gatherings in the course of the year attract bigger crowds to Chicago than does the international fat stock show. This show, by reason of its years of existence and the good it has accomplished in that time has become an institution. It is the common meeting place of all those interested in the meat making animals of the farm.

Besides the stock show, visitors at the exposition will have a chance to look upon the greatest corn and grain show ever assembled, 10,930 in prizes has been set aside for the exhibition. Who will be Corn King of America? Which among the cereal producing states of the Union will win the honors on Pedigreed Seed Corn? Who will capture the "blue" on exhibits of hay? All these queries and more will be answered in the awards to competitors.

There will be in attendance numerous representatives of foreign governments sent by their respective governments in response to invitation from the secretary of state at Washington asking them to participate in the show. Some of these countries are sending their foremost agricultural men and practical farmers and they will, in addition to representing their countries, act as judges in many of the classes and with many breeds.

TANBERG EXHIBIT IS TO BE CONTINUED

The Gazette Stands Ready to Support all Endeavor to Make Janesville and Vicinity a Bigger and Better Community.

RENT PROTESTERS.

Men and women coming to Janesville every day to make their homes are being exploited by a certain class of citizens who seem determined to gouge every cent possible out of those who must have places to live. This is particularly true of many who rent rooms. Prices for rooms have soared by leaps and bounds in the last few months, until today it is almost impossible to get a shelter at anywhere near a reasonable price. Everyone who rents a room or a house in these days is entitled to a fair return for the service rendered. The high cost of everything needed to conduct a household is to be taken into consideration and there should be no fault found because prices of rooms and houses are higher than they were a year ago. But the price-tipping practice can be carried too far.

The rent profiteers are not good citizens who are seeking to aid Janesville in meeting an emergency which has arisen since the entrance into the city of a big industry. There is not the spirit which must be maintained to help us through a period of preliminary service which must be rendered to those who are called here to work. They think they see a chance to make some "easy" money and they are playing their game to the limit.

Many people have opened their homes, to those who need rooms, in the true spirit of co-operation with those who are attempting to solve the problems of housing a large number of people suddenly thrust upon the city. They should be given credit for their generous response to the call for aid. They are not the profiteers. Many are inconvenienced by having strangers share their homes with them. They are doing their share. It is not fair to them to have a few take advantage of the situation and charge exorbitant prices.

Unless the whole community makes a special effort to discourage such greed as has been manifested, it perhaps will be necessary to take drastic steps. If those who are in the business of renting rooms cannot see the advantage of being fair, it might be possible to organize those who are willing to combat such a condition as the profiteers have brought about and drive them from the field. Doubtless more citizens who have the future of Janesville at heart, and who are inclined to pity the man and woman who have to work for a living and have to pay well for everything they get, will open up their homes. A bureau could be maintained which could direct strangers away from the profiteers and into the homes which are charging a reasonable rental.

Rent profiteering is unfair to the working man and woman. It is true they earn good wages, but in most cases their pay is not in proportion to the high cost of actual living.

A young man and his wife recently came to the city to take a permanent place in our midst. The man earns a fair salary and is a good workman. Both his wife and he are people who would add to the good class of our citizens. His employer thinks well of him and wishes to retain him. This man went out recently to look for a couple of housekeeping rooms. He was shown two which were not well furnished and which lacked modern conveniences. When he asked the price he was told they would be $15 a week. That man cannot afford to pay that money for two rooms—or for six rooms. He must have a place to live. If he does not get it he is going to go to some other city. Janesville will lose a good citizen. It will be our loss, not his, for he is skilled at his trade and can get a job most any place.

The Chamber of Commerce can do a great work by checking up on those who are over-charging for their rooms and houses and institute a campaign against profiteering. That body is assured of the closest cooperation of this newspaper in shedding plenty of the light of publicity on any sensible project which is started. It will agree to aid in keeping watch on those who have taken unfair advantage of the situation.

Here is a tip for the income and other tax assessors. When a man rents two rooms for $15 a week, his income increases considerably in a year. When a house owner puts up the rent of his house to a high figure it must be considered valuable property. We are anxious to see these citizens properly assessed, as no doubt they will be, when the proper officials make their canvass.

PUTTING THEM TO SHAME.

Even a fiery-tongued communist may be shamed. That was demonstrated in New York City the other day when a meeting was called under the auspices of the Communist Council of America to hear an address by Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, of more notoriety than fame, upon the advantages of a soviet "government" in the United States.

A clergyman led several of his parishioners to the hall and when the speaker rose to begin her denunciation of America it was to be greeted with the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner." Three cheers for the land of freedom proved too much for Mrs. Stokes and she hurriedly left the platform.

The revolutionary agitator stinks from the light of undoubted patriotism. If Mrs. Stokes had been as loyal an American as she has oftentimes professed, she would have been among the most ardent of those who sang the national anthem; nor would she have found cheering for her country objectionable. It may be that if she had been inspired by potent love of America she would have included "The Star Spangled Banner" in her program.

To put it mildly, it is difficult to understand how anyone who loves his native land or his adopted land can flee from its flag or its anthem.

If the communist denies a love of America, for what land does he profess a loyalty? Inquiry may reveal that communists and other neurotic agitators are moved chiefly by love for themselves. It was noticeable in the recent war that selfish folks were not particularly thrilled by their country's call.

Put the self-seekers to shame.

THE OTHER HALF AGAIN.

If it is true—and it has been repeated so often it must be true by this time—that one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, it also may be true that one-half doesn't want to live the way the other half does, even when every comfort is a certainty. Just what will please different people at any one time is difficult enough to imagine, but to try to make out a schedule which pleases everybody all the time, everywhere, is worse.

While a large number of men and women are packing trunks or perhaps only tentatively mapping out trips to the Southern states, where the climate will assist in completing a year of warm air and sunshine,

THE BEST LAND.
If I knew a better land on this glorious world of ours Where a man gets bigger money and is working shorter hours; If the Briton or the Frenchman had an easier life than mine, I'd pack my goods this minute and I'd sail across the brine. But I notice when an alien wants a land of hope and cheer And a future for his children, he comes out and settles here.

Here's the glorious land of Freedom! Here's the milk and honey goal For the peasant out of Russia, for the long subjected Pole. It is here the sons of Italy and men of Austria turn For the comfort of their bodies and the wages they can earn. And with all that men complain of, and with all that goes amiss, There's no happier, better nation on the world's broad face than this.

So I'm thinking when I listen to the walls of discontent, And some foreign disbeliever spreads his evil sentiment, That the bread of hate and envy that is sowing sin and shame In this glorious land of Freedom should go back from whence it came.

And I hold it is the duty, rich or poor, of every man Who enjoys this country's bounty to be all American. Copyright 1919 by Edgar A. Guest.

Capt. J. Irving Maxson and Mrs. Maxson are hastening back to New England as fast as they can go to get a full season of snow and sleet, turkey and cranberries, finished off with pumpkin pie. They want to get where the air is cold and crinkly with low temperatures, where there is a chance to wage one of their old-fashioned fights against the elements in pugnacious moods. They have been living on the Isle of Pines for seven years, where the captain said everything "is so doddled, beautiful and which Mrs. Maxson describes as "really too heavenly." They had been living amid splendid beauty prodigal in its profusion, and with such heavenly comfort that they just became discontented for a spell of something contrary, and dashed back to Stonington, Conn., for a good look at rocks, and hickory trees, and bare fields as a relief.

They are hoping for a regular old-time New England winter, with everything crackling from the cold, snow and sleet blowing, wind howling and the inhabitants going about smiling quite as pleasantly as the inhabitants of the Isle of Pines.

What is a man's meat one time may be his poison another, according to Captain Maxson, shiver his tops!

Sketches From Life -- By Temple

"No Butter?"

Leading Lo to the Altar

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—The Red Man is being married off the face of the earth; in a few more generations he will practically have disappeared.

This is the prediction, though not the exact words of Frank La Flesche, who is an expert on the Indian, three-quarters full blood, and an ethnologist in the employ of the Smithsonian institution.

The doom of the Red Man has been pronounced before. For about two and a half centuries ago ancestors worked hard trying to exterminate him with rifles, knives and war. It was predicted that he would soon be extinct. But he survived in considerable numbers and had to be put to death with whiskey by illicit traders, new and deadly disease germs were planted in his system, and he was sent to the reservation which did not agree with him. The best authorities said he was doomed. But when it came to a count of noses it was found that there were a good many Indians left.

The doomed Red Man today numbers over a third of a million, and it is doubtful whether there were ever many more than a million within what is now the United States. Marriages Is New Peril.
Now a peril has beset these survivors, in the form of matrimony. The Indian has survived the white man's warfare, his whiskey and his diseases, but when it comes to the white man's way of living, the Indian's marriage, he is helpless. His proud aboriginal blood is rapidly being so mixed that it will soon take an expert to detect its presence.

Intermarriage between the white man and the Red woman is of course a thing of long standing. Capt. John Smith and Pocahontas are the classic example, proving a fashionable precedent. Since then many thousands of white men have married Indian women, producing a large race of half-breeds who are always treacherous villains in literature and generally pretty good farmers in real life. But as long as the Indian continued to prefer the Indian woman the aboriginal blood continued to be produced in fair numbers. The thing which doomed the Red Man is his growing tendency to marry white women.

Turned Loose as U. S. Citizen.
As soon as an Indian can prove his fitness for real citizenship he is given an agent of the tribal affairs and the tribal money, and is turned loose from the reservation as an American citizen, free to go and come as he pleases, to buy, sell, marry, vote, make speeches, drink soda pop, and exercise all the other priceless prerogatives of American freedom.

Now this newly made citizen is seldom poor, and often he is rich; for, as everyone knows, many of the tribes own rich oil and mineral lands, as well as farms. There has never been a strong social prejudice against the Indian in this country, for the other hand, the Indian blood is usually considered a thing to boast of, as witness the number of descendants of Pocahontas who are to be met everywhere.

Therefore a young Indian buck who is a citizen of the United States, and a substantial citizen at that, is recognized by the American girl as her natural prey. Poor Lo stood off the white man for a couple of centuries, but now he is up against the more deadly half of the species. He is being conquered almost without a struggle.

There are some Indians, according to Mr. La Flesche, who prefer to marry in their own race, but many of the young men are frankly eager to obtain white wives and most of them succeed. At the same time, the wealthy young Indian woman is attractive to the white man. The result is that in many sections where the Indians make up a considerable part of the community, intermarriage has become almost more common than marriage within the separate races.

Half-Blood Is No Indian.
And the half-breed is emphatically no longer an Indian. He may look a good deal like the Indian, but he doesn't feel like one. He abandons completely the traditions, superstitions and customs of the tribe. When it thunders he doesn't run up the great spirit is thumping around on the roof of the heavens, but he hopes it will not rain and spoil his new derby.

And he again will marry a white woman or a mixed blood in all probability. Thus the process of absorption goes rapidly forward, and there are still whole tribes that still live on their reservations and keep their blood reasonably pure. These will resist absorption for a long time, but the ten thousand Navajos in New Mexico and Arizona, for example, will remain Navajos for many generations. Of other tribes there will not be a full-blooded specimen left in three or four generations. But whether the process is fast or slow, it is sure.

Mr. La Flesche believes that this infusion of Indian blood is a good thing. He says that the people of mixed blood are generally a people of excellent qualities.

O barber, would that I could do As you do unto me; I'd show you just how barbarous And vicious I could be. To stile with I would shave you With a razor that would scratch Across your face just like the hoe In Hiram's cabbage patch— And then I'd take a lot of towels As hot as hades, and I'd bring them steaming one by one, I'd deposit them on you—

A haircut I would give you next! You know what that would mean? That when I'd finished there would be Scar hair upon you bean— I'd take that damned vibrator, And run it round your ear Until you'd think a thousand Jersey "skeeters" must be near— And when the job was over I'd wait with outstretched paw— And you would probably drop therein A dime and nothing more!

Read to Address Forum On Reconstruction Work

"Industrial Reconstruction" as it applies to Janesville, will be discussed by C. O. Read, head of investigation and research of the Samson Tractor company, in the meeting of the Men's Open Forum of the Baptist church, this evening.

A supper will be served at 8:30 o'clock. The male quartet will sing.

WISCONSIN RIVER POWER AVAILABLE HERE IN 3 MONTHS

Within a period of three months, Janesville will begin receiving a powerful electric current of 68,000 volts brought directly from two large power plants on the Wisconsin river to a sub-station which will be located on property at the Sumner Tractor plant. D. H. Kores of the Janesville Electric company stated today. The line from Janesville to Madison to Prairie du Sac, will be opened sometime in the early part of February, it is hoped.

The current will be carried over high tension wires strung between giant steel towers similar to the system now used to furnish power for Milwaukee from the power plant and dam at Kibbourn on the Wisconsin river. The line from Prairie du Sac now extends as far as Madison so that it only remains to construct the line from this city to Madison before current can be supplied here.

The high voltage and dangerous powerful force of the 68,000-volt current to be brought here, can be realized when it is considered that the highest voltage carried over any lines of the local electric company is 6,800-volts, or one tenth the voltage of the new line.

A double line will be installed so that if one should break the Samson company would not be crippled. The capacity of the new current will be 10,000 horse-power.

Four crews of men are now at work in the northern section of the line south of Madison, excavating for the foundations for the steel towers, the surveying of the line having been completed. Material for the towers is now being distributed all along so that erection may begin as soon as the concrete bases have been poured.

Mr. Kores today outlined the route which the towers and tension wires will travel from the north county line to the Samson plant. The line will enter Rock county at a point a few miles northwest of Edgerton, passing directly south between Edgerton and Fulton, a mile west of the city limits of the Tobacco City. It will run due south until it reaches the river at the junction of Fulton and Janesville towns, where it will go southeast for a mile crossing to the west side of the river.

It will continue along the river course until a point just above the four-mile bridge when it will swing due south to the Footville-Janesville road outside the city limits turning east crossing the Atton road, railroad tracks, and passing to the rear of the Rock River Woolen Mills, crossing the river west of the St. Paul railroad bridge.

It will end at the sub-station which will be located near the corner of Eastern and Park avenues probably on the old James Whelan property where the current will be made available for furnishing locomotive power for the entire Samson plant.

You'll Feel Snug

A good many people are adopting a plan that is wise for it keeps a good sum of money handy all the time in case it is needed suddenly and yet this money is always at work earning a profit for them.

The plan adopted is to deposit as much as they desire to use and take a certificate of deposit for it. This C. of D. can be cashed as easily as they would cash a check at any time.

You'll feel mighty snug if you have a nice sum of money invested in this way and know that you are always ready for any unexpected need that may come to you.

We write these certificates for any sum you ask for.

FORMER FIRE BUG IS GIVEN HIS FREEDOM

Percy Merrill, confessed incendiary, has been released from the local state hospital for the insane at Waupun, according to information obtained today from Dr. J. F. Brown, superintendent. "In my opinion, he is cured," states Dr. Brown.

It is understood that Merrill has gone to Buffalo, N. Y., to live. The fires that he admitted starting occurred during 1912 and 1913 in various sections of Janesville. Iowa Educator Is Convinced

Former Supt. of Education For Des Moines County Now Praises Tanlac

Professor M. B. Shaw, a prominent Iowa educator, former superintendent of education for Des Moines county, who is now teaching at the Fillet River School and resides in West Burlington, Iowa, comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Tanlac.

"Not in years," said Professor Shaw, while in Henry's drug store at Burlington, recently, "have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I have since I began taking Tanlac. Three bottles of this medicine has done me more good than all other treatment and medicines I have taken in ten years combined."

"At the time I began taking Tanlac my stomach had been in bad shape for at least ten years. My food would invariably sour and I would suffer for hours after meals from gas and indigestion. Part of me also in badly run down condition, suffered from constipation, and my nerves were upset so I could not get sufficient sleep or rest."

"Well, I just tried everything but nothing helped me until I got Tanlac and now I am just like a new man. Before I took Tanlac myself I did not believe that they were saying about it, but I had not been taking it but a few days until I was convinced of its value. I can now eat anything I want without the slightest trouble from it. Tanlac has not only set my stomach right but my entire system is in fine shape. In fact, I just feel like I have been given a new lease on life and I feel that I owe it to the public to tell what it is that brought about such a wonderful change in my condition. I am no longer suspicious that so many people are praising Tanlac for it certainly is a great medicine."

Here is another instance of the wonderful reconstructive powers of Tanlac. Prof. Shaw is only one of the many thousands who have taken it with the same remarkable results. Tanlac benefited him because it contains certain medicinal properties which enrich the blood and promote a healthy appetite for nourishing food. Tanlac has been very successful in overcoming nervousness and sleeplessness, not from a quieting effect on the nerves, for it has no such effect, but by strengthening the nerves and bringing back the normal state of health through its effect on the appetite and nutrition of the body.

TANLAC is sold in Janesville by all leading druggists.

Service Through Organization

THE only difference between big business and little business lies in the number of units of effort and the character of service rendered.

The laboring man is in business for himself. He renders a service by selling his time, energy and skill.

Big business is the grouping together of a great many units to render a greater service by co-ordinating the efforts of the individuals and selling the results of their combined time, energy and skill.

Up to a few years ago the general public did not understand the ideals of service underlying big business. What it did not understand it distrusted and naturally condemned.

When the Allies decided to organize their armies on the basis of big business—for a common service—they began to get results, and the world saw the benefits to be derived from intelligent organization.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a big business, organized to render a useful service.

The objective of the Company is to manufacture the greatest number of useful products from crude petroleum, to distribute them so that they are available to all and to sell them at a minimum price.

The methods by which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders these services embrace the truest financial democracy, the most advanced merchandising practices and extensive scientific research.

These are intended to expand the usefulness of the Company as a public servant, by maintaining the quality of petroleum products manufactured at the highest standard, by making an adequate return to those who are investing their money or their time in the business of the Company and enabling the public to secure their requirements of such products at a minimum of expense.

It is this spirit of co-operation animating the Board of Directors which enables the Company to discharge its complete obligation as a public servant in a manner satisfactory to its patrons.

MADISON SEEKING BIG BOWLING MEET

Milwaukee, Nov. 19.—Madison is beginning to loom up as a possible rival of Milwaukee as a host for the 1921 state bowling tournament. Rumors are afloat in bowling circles that the capital city is silently and unobtrusively preparing to put its plans into concrete form for the purpose of making a strong claim when the time comes.

Foundation to the rumor is given by the unusually large number being made from that city for this season's tourney opening at Manitowoc on Jan. 20. According to Secretary William Penske of the Wisconsin Bowling association, no less than from 30 to 35 teams will represent Madison in the 1920 meet.

But it is doubtful whether they

GIGANTIC STOCK REDUCING SALES

Begin Thursday Morning, Nov. 20th, and Continue 10 Days

THE REASON There must be a reason for all things, and the reason for this sale is a very simple one. We are overstocked. Because of the weeks of unfavorable weather, we find ourselves with more garments than we should have at this time of year and we take this means of reducing the number of garments in our racks. We bought heavily anticipating an early season, which did not materialize. We have the garments, and here is your opportunity to clothe yourself for Winter at a saving of a large amount of money.

THE RESULT As there is always a reason for a sale, there is always a result which comes from the sale. This time the results will be large savings to you on all Winter merchandise. Nothing is reserved. This Stock Reducing Sale covers the entire store. Millinery as well as Fur Coats, Blouses as well as Suits and Coats. Every Woman and Miss who attends this gigantic sale will be satisfied that she certainly has reduced the high cost of clothes for this Winter, at least. Come in expecting to save many dollars.
